OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. I met with members of SRS [redacted] on 15 May to discuss Gen. Cabell's reaction to SIC's Communism Exhibit and to solicit additional suggestions for improving and adding to what we have come up with. The discussion proved to be quite fruitful. [redacted] had several ideas about emphasizing the international "apparatus" which conceivably could be put into useful graphic form. This continues to be our major problem. Most of the suggestions which have come from outside SIC have lent themselves to briefing or to documentation, but very few to the required exhibit format. SRS has also put me in touch with a number of additional people who have worked in one way or another on this problem, including several in the Presentations area of OCI whom I have not previously contacted.

2. [redacted] and I both noticed that the current session of [redacted] Communism course is still liberally sprinkled [redacted]. The most glaring current example is [redacted] who, I am confident, will gain virtually nothing from this two weeks session.

3. Non-Agency Presentations:
